More often than not, well written riddles make good use of four linguistic devices: paradox, pun, poetic description and red herring. Language is primarily words being spewed to represent something, which inherently makes everything we say riddle or metaphor. In tribute to this, we have this fantastic set of metaphor riddles for you to solve. The literary brainteasers in this section are fun to solve and range in complexity. Simile Examples. A simile is a comparison between two different things using the word "like" or "as" to make the comparison. Similes are generally easier to identify than metaphors, but not always. Sometimes a speaker or writer may use the word "like" or "as" and not make any comparison. These are not similes.
